

BLACK MATERNAL HEALTH:

Educational Film Showing and Panel Discussion

To our Faculty, Staff and Students:

Please join us in learning more about maternal disparities and how we can make a positive impact on maternal health outcomes for Black women.

In-Person & Virtual Option
Will Be Available

April 16, 2024
12pm-1pm
RWJUH Courtyard

Black Maternal Health Week
April 11-17

CDC data show that Black women are two to three times more likely to die from pregnancy-related complications than white women, with most of the maternal deaths being preventable. This heightened risk spans all income and education levels.

<https://www.cdc.gov/healthequity/features/maternal-mortality/index.html>

HOSTED BY:
OFFICE OF INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY
OFFICE OF MULTICULTURAL AND STUDENT AFFAIRS

FOOD WILL BE AVAILABLE

SCAN QR CODE TO RESERVE YOUR SPOT
AND SIGN-UP!

R RUTGERS HEALTH
Robert Wood Johnson
Medical School

RWJBarnabas HEALTH Robert Wood Johnson
University Hospital