The New Jersey Special Needs Registry for Disasters is an important program designed to help those who may have difficulty during an evacuation or emergency because of physical or developmental challenges, or lack of transportation. The New Jersey Special Needs Registry for Disasters program helps first responders make the best use of limited time and resources by planning to help those with limited options for evacuating during an emergency.

People with special needs (or caregivers on their behalf) are encouraged to register electronically, if possible, by accessing www.registerready.nj.gov

Alternatively, you can call New Jersey's toll-free 2-1-1 telephone services and ask to register for this registry. Paper registration forms are also available from your county office of emergency management.

emergencylink

completely prepared.

EmergencyLink is a free 24-Hour emergency response network .

EmergencyLink allows you to store your important contacts and copies of all your important records in one location. In an emergency this information can be easily accessed or shared according to your specifications.

EmergencyLink's 24-hour Emergency Response Center is ready to act on your behalf. From the moment a first responder calls the Emergency Response Center, their team of trained professionals will relay your emergency medical information to medical personnel and contact your "Emergency Contacts" as you have instructed.

EmergencyLink has developed extremely sophisticated mobile applications. These apps are free and allow users the full functionality of the EmergencyLink service.

EmergencyLink takes your security and privacy very seriously. They have implemented many of the same security features used by leading banks and financial institutions and will not share your information with others for any reason.
