

Autism Awareness Cards

To help increase awareness and understanding, some parents/caregivers carry business cards that contain a message about autism as well as contact information for a local or national autism advocacy group.

One sheet is suitable for a parent of a child with autism, the other for an adult with autism. When out in the community, these cards can be shared to help provide an explanation about autism or when you feel you need to explain your child's behavior.

You can print the awareness cards we have provided or you can create a personalized set of your own.
