

Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital Rahway

Founded in 1917, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital Rahway, an RWJBarnabas Health hospital, provides health care services that help our patients get better and stay better.

RWJUH Rahway is unique in the region in that it's an acute care hospital that is also home to a long-term acute care hospital and a rehabilitation unit, nestled in a residential setting.

RWJUH Rahway's Emergency Department cares for almost 38,000 patients per year, and provides care for life-threatening conditions such as heart attack and stroke. RWJUH Rahway, together with Rutgers Cancer Institute, the state's only National Cancer Institute-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center, provides patients access to the most advanced cancer treatments including clinical trials, cellular therapies, complex surgical procedures and sophisticated radiation therapy techniques.

For those needing rehabilitation after an acute care stay, the campus is home to a 24-bed, licensed subacute rehab owned and operated by Alaris Health, as well as the 34-bed, long-term, acute-care Kindred Hospital New Jersey for ventilator weaning and medically complex patients who need specialized treatment for extended periods of time.

Our physical, occupational and speech staff help with recovery from illness or injury and provide therapy for those with neurological conditions, such as Parkinson's disease.

The rehab department at the hospital and satellite facilities in Scotch Plains and Carteret provide extensive therapeutic services, including peripheral neuropathy therapy, concussion therapy, and pelvic floor and incontinence therapy.

The hospital provides a wide range of cardiac testing and extensive catheterization services, including a new state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization, emergency angioplasty and pacemaker insertion. For emergency angioplasty, our average door-to-balloon time is well under 90 minutes. For those with chronic heart and lung disease, the hospital provides cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation programs that help build strength and stamina in patients weakened by their disease.

RWJUH Rahway has extensive outpatient diagnostic and lab services, as well as a surgical weight loss program that is a Center of Excellence.
